KINRADEN is a Copenhagen-based fine jewellery brand founded on the belief that beauty and responsibility are inseparable. Rooted in Scandinavian design traditions and architectural thinking, each collection is shaped by structure, material honesty, and quiet precision. Crafted exclusively in 100% recycled gold and silver and set with carefully sourced gemstones and Mpingo blackwood, KINRADEN creates modern heirlooms designed to endure - in form, in value, and in impact.

Every KINRADEN piece is produced according to the highest industry standards, with uncompromising attention to quality, traceability, and craftsmanship. Materials are selected not only for their aesthetic and physical properties, but for their documented origin and longevity. Silnova marks a new chapter for KINRADEN - our considered transition to a more enduring expression of silver. Developed in Italy, Silnova is a patented silver alloy that can be understood as silver's answer to white gold: naturally whiter, more resistant to tarnish, and more durable than traditional silver. Its refined brightness lasts longer, requires less maintenance, and is engineered for everyday wear.

As KINRADEN moves to the use of Silnova, some pieces will, during a transition period, still be crafted in traditional sterling silver. A quiet evolution, guided by longevity, innovation, and lasting value. Our production processes are continuously evaluated to ensure consistency, durability, and respect for both people and resources.

All production is certified by the Responsible Jewellery Council (RJC), reflecting a considered approach where material integrity and ethical practice are integral to design rather than treated as a separate concern.

About KINRADEN

OUR NAME KINRADEN

Derived from the old English word for “kindred,” the name KINRADEN embodies our belief in unity and interconnectedness. It serves as a reminder that we are all bound together, sharing a single planet and a collective destiny. Our actions ripple outward, affecting the lives of others, urging us to tread with kindness and compassion.

We embrace this interconnectedness through our commitment to sourcing materials with the utmost respect for people and the environment. Our adherence to strict standards ensures that every piece of KINRADEN jewellery is not only a symbol of style and elegance but also a testament to responsible stewardship of our planet.

About KINRADEN

SARAH EMILIE MÜLLERTZ

CREATIVE DIRECTOR & FOUNDER

Sarah Emilie Müllertz is an architect, creative director, and founder of KINRADEN. Born and educated in Denmark, she holds a master’s degree in architecture from the Royal Academy of Fine Arts in Copenhagen, where her sensitivity to space, material, and proportion was formed.

Before focusing on jewellery, Sarah built a strong career in architecture. She ran her own design studio and later served as Partner and Global Head of Design at Henning Larsen Architects, leading international teams and shaping projects defined by clarity, structure, and cultural awareness.

Her interest in art began early. A committed art collector since her teens, Sarah draws on a broad range of references - from contemporary and classical art to architecture and poetry, shaping a design language that is both informed and personal.

Guided by a belief that responsibility and aesthetics must go hand in hand, she has embedded recycled precious metals and responsible material sourcing into KINRADEN from the outset.

Today, Sarah works at the intersection of architecture, art, and jewellery. Her designs are marked by restraint and precision, balancing minimalist structure with a sculptural sensibility. Quietly considered and intellectually grounded, her work reflects a Scandinavian approach to design; thoughtful, functional, and rooted in long-term value rather than spectacle.

About KINRADEN

OUR RESPONSIBILITY

“We understand the Earth as a shared system - something we are part of, not separate from. That understanding informs how we design, produce, and take responsibility for what we put into the world.”
- Sarah Emilie Müllertz

This perspective calls for conscious choices rather than grand gestures. It recognises that design decisions have long-term consequences, and that progress is shaped by what we choose to do today. At KINRADEN, responsibility is approached as a practical discipline - embedded in processes, materials, and standards - rather than an abstract ideal.

The environmental impact of jewellery production is often underestimated. Extracting even small amounts of virgin gold or silver requires vast quantities of ore, leaving lasting damage to landscapes and introducing toxic substances into surrounding ecosystems. For KINRADEN, this reality demands a different approach.

Jewellery is made with consideration for its full lifecycle, where material origin, production methods, and durability are given the same importance as the finished piece itself.

RECYCLED MATERIALS

We craft our pieces from recycled gold, silver, carefully sourced gemstones and Mpingo wood - rare materials reclaimed and reimagined. Refined and reborn, they carry the quiet strength of what has already lived, now made timeless.

LASTING DESIGN

We design with eternity in mind - jewellery that defies trends and honours time. Crafted to endure in both form and feeling, each piece is made to be lived in, and lived with.

CERTIFIED PRODUCTION

Our jewellery is handcrafted in a certified atelier where skill meets dignity, and every hand is honoured. Rooted in care and fairness, each piece carries the quiet imprint of a craft - and a workplace - built to uplift.

EXTENDED WEAR

At KINRADEN, durability is designed from within. We craft our pieces with a structural precision. Every piece is carefully considered and tested to carry it's beauty over time. Built for daily life, our jewellery is crafted with quiet strength and lasting beauty. Each piece is a promise - designed to endure, and to be worn, again and again.

CARE AND REPAIR

We care for what we wish to keep - which is why every KINRADEN piece comes with simple tools to help it age with grace. And when time leaves its mark, we offer repair and renewal, giving each piece the chance to return to strength - or begin again. Nothing is wasted. Everything continues.

BIODEGRADABLE WASTE

At KINRADEN, every material is part of a thoughtful cycle - designed to return gently to the earth. Our Mpingo wood is treated only with beeswax, allowing even the smallest offcuts to biodegrade naturally. We avoid coatings on our metals to keep them fully recyclable, and our FSC-certified packaging ensures that every part of your experience - from jewellery to box - leaves only a light footprint. Nothing lingers. Everything returns.

RE-USE OR RE-DESIGN

At KINRADEN, nothing is wasted - discontinued pieces are returned to our workshop, where metals are remelted and wood is reimagined. Through careful repair, reuse, and redesign, we honour each material's full life, keeping it in the circle - never in the waste.

MPINGO DIAMONDS

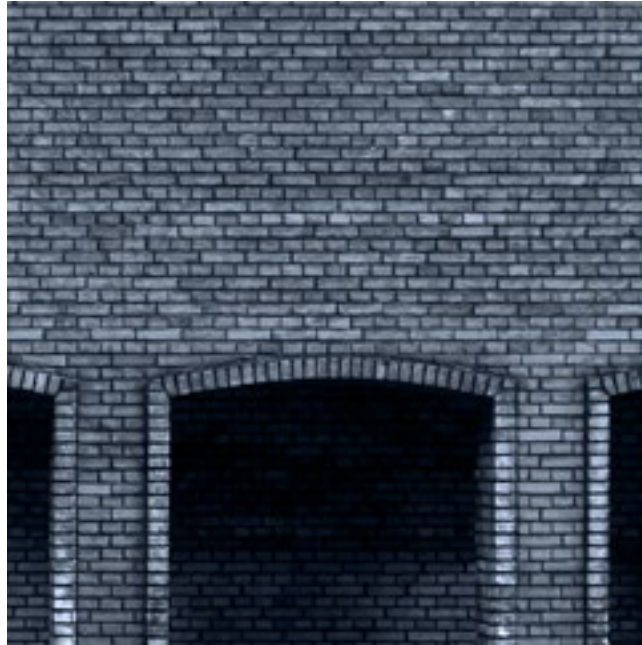

Selected styles are adorned with diamond-cut Mpingo blackwood. These black diamonds, sourced from our “mine above the ground” in a lush and certified forest in Tanzania, represent not just beauty but also environmental responsibility. Protected through WWF initiatives, the Mpingo blackwood is among the hardest, most durable, and rarest materials available. Meticulously cut and polished by skilled diamond cutters, these diamonds promise both timeless elegance and enduring quality.

CAREFULLY SOURCED GEMSTONES

The sapphires used in the Bricks collection are sourced from Queensland's Anakie Gem Fields, where gemstones are recovered through environmentally responsible mining practices. Formed over time within volcanic basalt and later settled in ancient alluvial deposits, the stones are extracted using low-impact, closely regulated methods that prioritise land rehabilitation, water management and community engagement. Mining takes place primarily on private farmland leases, where open-pit operations are fully reclaimable: once the sapphires are removed, soil is returned and the land is restored and replanted with native vegetation. In many cases, the reclaimed terrain becomes more productive than before. This careful approach ensures that each sapphire carries not only its distinct colour, but also a respect for the landscape from which it emerged.

BRICKS COLLECTION

THE BLUEPRINT OF COPENHAGEN

The Bricks collection is born from a single, unmistakable architectural gesture: the brick bond. The repeating patterns that shape Copenhagen's buildings have been translated into precious metal and stone, a tribute to the craftsmanship that carries both architecture and jewellery through time.

BRACELET

INGER

COLLECTION	MATERIAL	CUT
Bricks	Recycled 18k gold 5 Queensland Sapphires	Square Baguette

The Bricks bracelet is a sculptural interpretation of the brick bond, inspired by the quiet discipline of Kay Fisker's architecture in Copenhagen. Its repeating structure plays with openness and density - a sequence of open and closed links that creates a subtle rhythm against the skin.

Five Queensland sapphires are set within the composition, introducing depth and colour to the gold. Their shifting blue tones echo the nuanced variations of Copenhagen's brick bond – warm and cool, muted and vivid - shaped by light, time and repetition.

Bricks distils architecture to its essence: a wearable construction where structure, proportion and colour exist in calm balance, crafted to endure.

NAUTILUS COLLECTION

A TRIBUTE TO THE QUIET INTELLIGENCE OF NATURE

Inspired by the Fibonacci sequence and the sacred spiral of the nautilus shell, each piece in this collection echoes the organic symmetry found in waves, leaves, seashells, and galaxies.

These are forms shaped by a deep, ancient logic - nature's own language of growth and proportion.

In "Nautilus", we trace the curve of becoming - how every spiral begins at a single point and unfolds outward, infinitely.

These designs speak to the elegance of evolution, the poetics of pattern, and the subtle perfection present in all living things.

MEADOW

Nautilus	Recycled 18k gold Mpingo blackwood	Brilliant

A quiet sense of movement, held in gold. The Meadow earring traces a restrained, organic curve - fluid yet precise, shaped by balance rather than ornament. Crafted in recycled 18k gold, it holds a single 3 ct. cushion-cut Mpingo blackwoodstone, its deep surface offering a soft contrast to the warmth of the metal. As part of the KINRADEN Nautilus collection, the design is informed by natural growth patterns and architectural clarity. Here, movement is suggested through proportion and restraint, allowing material and form to speak without excess - considered, enduring, and made to be worn over time.

IMPRINT COLLECTION

RIPPLES THEY CREATE IN THE WORLD

Inspired by the marks we leave on the world and the ripples they create. Drawing from the transformative work of Marina Abramović, the designs reflect on our lasting impressions and our connection to the natural world. Each piece combines wood and metal in seamless harmony, symbolizing the delicate balance between humanity and nature. With minimalist, evocative designs, Imprint serves as a reminder of our responsibility to leave a legacy of respect and harmony with the earth.

Drawing on ideas of presence and continuity, the Bond Ring reflects on lasting impressions and our relationship with the natural world. Conceived as a stringent sculpture to be carried on the hand, the design brings together FSC-certified Mpingo blackwood and precious metal in a seamless composition. The wood is cut using a refined and time-consuming technique, allowing it to be precisely embedded into the silver. The result is a quiet balance between material, process, and form - restrained, deliberate, and enduring.

LEVITAS COLLECTION

EMBODYING AN ELEGANCE THAT IS BOTH GROUNDED AND TRANSCENDENT

With its fluid contours and imperfect shapes each piece of jewellery appears as moulded by nature, at the same time playing with the shape of the body and its natural movements. The Levitas Collection, meaning lightness in Latin, is more than a visual accent, it stands as a powerful symbol of the shared stance and dedication to shaping the future through beauty and conscious design.

Collection created in collaboration with Skall Studio.

Part of the KINRADEN Levitas collection, the Floris Hair Pin & Brooch in sterling silver / Silnova is conceived as a small, sculptural object with a clear sense of purpose. Defined by lightness and tension, the form balances strength and delicacy, allowing it to function both as a hair pin and as a brooch. Rooted in an appreciation for organic form and careful craftsmanship, the piece reflects a restrained approach to adornment where utility and expression coexist. Worn in the hair or pinned to knitwear, it adds a quiet, considered accent, offering an understated statement shaped by material integrity and enduring design.

ETERNAL ECHOES COLLECTION

A TRIBUTE TO TRUE LOVE AND SYMBIOTIC UNITY

This collection draws inspiration from Carlo Scarpa's architectural masterpiece, the Tomba Brion in Altivole. Scarpa's work, a harmonious blend of Venetian art, modernism, and oriental philosophies, is a tribute to true love and symbiotic unity.

The complex's intricate design, and the serene Zen garden, embody a journey of self-discovery and eternal love. Each piece in our collection mirrors Scarpa's dedication to detail, and the fusion of cultural influences, celebrating the profound beauty and timeless elegance of his creation.

Part of the KINRADEN Eternal Echoes Collection, this handcrafted ring in recycled 18 karat gold is defined by architectural clarity and restraint. Designed to sit elegantly on the finger, its proportions are carefully considered to feel balanced and natural, allowing the form to assert itself without weight or excess. Inspired by the timeless modernism of Carlo Scarpa’s Tomba Brion, the ring translates spatial rhythm and structural precision into a tactile, wearable object. Art, philosophy, and material meet in a piece that values longevity and intention—quietly expressive, composed, and enduring.

TWO WORLDS COLLECTION

A SYMPHONY OF BAUHAUS

Inspired by the surreal geometry of Oskar Schlemmer's magical costumes, this collection traces the moment where the body becomes architecture and movement becomes meaning.

In The Two Worlds Collection, Bauhaus discipline meets the quiet poetry of fine jewellery. Sculpted in 18-karat gold and sterling silver, grounded by Mpingo blackwood, each piece carries the memory of performance - stripes translated into form, geometry softened by the body.

HELGA

COLLECTION	MATERIAL	DIMENSIONS
Two Worlds	Recycled 18k gold	1 × 1.8 cm

The Helga earring in 18K gold is a sculptural statement piece, crafted from recycled 18K gold and detailed with signature stripes of Mpingo blackwood. Rooted in Bauhaus principles and inspired by the expressive geometry of Oskar Schlemmer, the design balances architectural precision with artistic sensibility. A refined composition of materiality and form, embodying contemporary fine jewellery with timeless elegance.

Part of the Two Worlds Collection - a symphony of Bauhaus inspired by Schlemmer's surreal Triadic Ballet - where sculptural form, movement, and material contrast merge into wearable works of art.

OXYGEN COLLECTION

BREATHE WITH ME

Like the air that we breathe, each precious link fits seamlessly into the next, silver upon silver upon gold upon silver - coming softly alive with every movement.

With inspiration from the ancient precision art of Japanese joinery, the simplicity of this fine jewellery collection is clear, while nothing requires more engineering detail than achieving such an expression. It's about timeless elegance, not fashion.

Now inhale...

COLLECTION	MATERIAL	SIZE
Oxygen	Recycled sterling silver 925 / Silnova	Small, Medium & Large

Part of the KINRADEN Oxygen Collection, the Blast bracelet in recycled sterling silver / Silnova is shaped by the collection’s focus on openness, movement, and air. The interlocking links form a continuous structure, creating a sense of flow and lightness that defines Oxygen as a whole. Its oval silhouette allows the bracelet to sit naturally on the wrist, balancing presence with ease. The design reflects a reduction to essential form, where clarity and rhythm take precedence over ornament. Within the context of the collection, the Blast bracelet expresses Oxygen’s underlying idea of space and breath—translated into a precise, wearable construction that feels both dynamic and enduring.

STILOS COLLECTION

TO CREATE ENDURING BEAUTY

The KINRADEN Stilos Collection is shaped by architectural repetition and proportion, drawing inspiration from the structure of ancient Grecian pillars. Across the collection, form is explored through subtle variation, where rhythm and restraint guide each design rather than ornament.

Crafted using KINRADEN's three signature materials - solid 18 karat gold, sterling silver, and Mpingo blackwood - the collection balances material contrast with structural clarity. Conceived to remain relevant over time, Stilos reflects an ambition to create jewellery defined by longevity rather than trend. The collection was originally developed in collaboration with MKDT Studio, grounding its architectural language in a shared design dialogue.

PENDANT

DORIC

COLLECTION	MATERIAL	SIZE
Stilos	Recycled 18k gold	Tiny, Extra Small, Standard

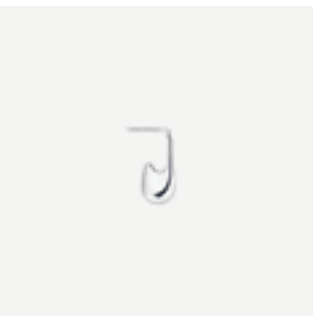

Exquisitely handcrafted in recycled 18 karat gold, this pendant is defined by the sculptural clarity of the Stilos Collection. Inspired by the proportions and rhythm of ancient Grecian pillars, the design translates architectural structure into a refined, wearable form.

Rooted in Danish design principles, the pendant balances strength and restraint, allowing material and proportion to take precedence. Conceived as a modern heirloom, it is designed to endure - valued for its precision, its permanence, and its quiet sense of continuity over time.

RADIANT COLLECTION

TO BE THE LIGHT

The Radiant Collection evolves from a single clean shape - a twisted ellipse that distinctly catches and reflects the light with every movement. Paying tribute to minimalistic Scandinavian architecture and design, these slender ovals in solid, recycled gold or silver play with simple radiant and confluent lines that meet and morph indefinitely. As timeless core jewellery, these fine sustainable pieces contribute classic quality and low-key elegance to any look.

RING

COLLECTION	MATERIAL	SIZE
Radiant	Recycled sterling silver 925 / Silnova	46 - 66 Other sizes on request

Part of the KINRADEN Radiant Collection, the FLARE ring in solid recycled sterling silver / SilnovA is defined by clarity and flow. Inspired by radiant, converging lines found in architecture, the form introduces a soft sense of movement while maintaining structural precision.

Designed to sit comfortably on the finger, the ring holds its presence without excess. Its understated profile allows it to be worn on its own or combined with other rings, reflecting a versatile approach to design - quietly modern, balanced, and shaped to endure.

KINDRED COLLECTION

WE KINDRED ARE

The KINRADEN Kindred Collection marks the origin of the brand and the beginning of its design language. As the first collection created by KINRADEN, it established the foundations of material honesty, symbolism, and restraint that continue to define the brand today.

Inspired by the quiet intensity of Emily Dickinson's poetry, the collection centres on the signet ring and the classic diamond - reinterpreted through cut and polished Mpingo blackwood. These deep, velvet-black stones offer a restrained contrast to fine metals and have become a defining signature of KINRADEN. Rooted in poetry yet guided by clarity of form, the Kindred Collection remains as relevant now as when it was first conceived - timeless in expression and enduring in intent.

RING

Kindred	Recycled 18k gold Mpingo blackwood	Brilliant

The KINDRED ring in solid recycled 18 karat gold is conceived as the KINRADEN family ring and a quiet symbol of the brand’s name. Kindred speaks to connection - between people, materials, and the natural world - and this meaning is embedded directly into the design.

Shaped as a contemporary signet ring, the piece is set with a sustainable, brilliant-cut Mpingo blackwood diamond. The deep, matte-black stone offers a restrained counterpoint to the warmth of gold, symbolising our relationship with nature and with one another. Defined by clarity and permanence, the KINDRED ring represents the origin of KINRADEN’s values - connection, responsibility, and enduring form.
